

FALL 2018 HONORS SEMINAR

UNHO 267 Honors: Service Learning

Dr. Bob Kronick, Department of Educational Psychology and Counseling

TR 9:40 a.m.-10:55 a.m. | HBC 118 | CRN: 45837

General Education: Social Sciences

CHP: Social, Behavioral, and Communication Sciences

In this course, you will draw on your common experience of education to examine related social issues such as tax policy, racism, home ownership, health care, and workforce preparation. This course will allow you to put a face on these issues, per the service learning design. As part of the course, you will be asked to serve in a local community school. Thus, you will spend time in class discussing issues that you will then confront when you work in the community. This course will allow you to learn while serving, hopefully instilling you with a sense of civic responsibility.

Dr. Kronick has been at the University of Tennessee for over 40 years and has spent much of his career serving the community. He began a Full Service school model that currently operates in three local Title 1 elementary schools, offering after school programming, tutoring, counseling, and medical care. He has been teaching service learning to honors students for the past five years.
